BOARD ORDERS PART OF REMODELING WORK

THIRD FLOOR OF COURT HOUSE WILL BE ALTERED AT AN ESTIMATED COST OF $6,000.

WILL BEGIN AT ONCE

Building Committee and Special Auxiliary Committee Will Have Supervision of Rearrangement.

Before the county board adjourned Thursday afternoon the resolution offered by Supervisor McGowan, providing an appropriation of $6,000 for remodeling the third floor, or large court room, of the court house, according to the plans and specifications before the board, was passed by a vote of 19 to 16. The proposal to alter only the upper floor of the building carried after two amendments, one to go forward with the entire work of interior remodeling at once at an expense of about $12,000, and the second to remodel the basement and main floors at an approximate cost of $6,000, were lost, the former by a vote of 24 to 11 and the latter by 22 to 11. Following was the vote of the board on remodeling the upper floor:

Ayes—Supervisors Benson, Bingham, Denning, Ebbott, Ehlig, Morris, Moseley, McGowan, O'Neil, Overton, Patterson, Richardson, Snyder, Steel, Treadway, Tullar, Veltz, Woodruff and Smith.

Following the passage of the appropriation it was voted that a special committee of the board, appointed by the chairman, be named for the purpose of acting with the building committee to supervise the alterations. Plans and specifications are practically complete and it will be possible to advertise for bids at once so that the work may be started within a few weeks. As a result the changes should be completed during the winter months, and the court house will be ready for the meeting of the next county board in April.

According to the plans the large court room on the upper floor will be divided by a partition, bisecting the room east and west. The north half will be devoted to a circuit court room, and the south half will be fitted up for county board room and for a law library and committee room. The supervisors' room will be located in the southeast corner of the building and will be reached by a stairway leading from the south corridor on the second floor. The estimate calls for steel tables and furniture for the board room and the court room.

When completed the upper floor will offer the most commodious accommodations for the court and the supervisors. It will put Rock county on a par with other counties in the state in the matter of facilities for the county officials and will be an improvement of which the citizens may be proud. The prospects are that the remodeling of the basement and second floors will be done in a year or two, which will complete the interior alterations of the building. The plans are tentatively drawn and call for a number of exterior changes, including the building of a ground entrance at the north end of the building and the closing of the entrance on the second floor by means of present stone steps. The exterior change will not be attempted for a few years, in all probability, as the thought of the supervisors is to relieve the interior congestion as it exists at present in a number of the offices, notably the register of deeds and the county court. Both of these offices are badly in need of additional vault room.

USE MOTOR TRUCKS INSTEAD OF HORSES

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 12.—Troops on duty in the southern department have abused motor transportation by calling on trucks for a variety of uses, and have been ordered to use them for transportation work to be done in the many commands.

The order provides that all serviceable animals in every organization throughout the department be exercised daily and that harnessing them and hitching them to wagons and using them for transportation work to be done in the many commands.

POSTPONE CASE AGAINST VAUGHN UNTIL LATER DATE
In the case of the state against Frank Vaughn, charged with selling liquor without a license, the parties to the lawsuit at 523 Wall street, an adjournment of further proceedings until Judge Harry Maxfield is able to take the bench, was made this morning. Acting Judge Charles H. Lange was unable to act on the case because of interest in it as city attorney.

SETTLEMENT IS REACHED IN BRESEE-TUBBS SUIT
After a conference which continued over the noon hour on Thursday, in which Judge Grimm, the parties to the lawsuit and their attorneys participated, a settlement was reached in the case of George W. Bresee against E. H. Tubbs of Clinton, an action for damages the result of an automobile accident, in which Mrs. Bresee was injured, and the Bresee car partially wrecked. According to the stipulations the parties to the suit will divide the cost of the automobile repairs equally between them and neither party will accept the blame for the accident, both being held free of any negligence whatsoever.

STATE BOARD COMPLIMENTS LOCAL FIRE DEPARTMENT
Evidence of the efficiency attained by the local fire department is given in a communication from the state board of control, which compliments Chief Klein and his men on their quick run to the state school for the blind at the time of a fire in a dust chute at that institution early in December. At that time, within four minutes after the alarm had been turned in, two trucks had arrived at the school and within ten minutes all the apparatus was on hand. The run was a long one and on a rainy night, so the short time required to reach the fire is doubly laudable.

INSTALL NEW MOTOR IN FIRE DEPARTMENT TRUCK
This morning men from the Seagraves Fire Apparatus company arrived in Janesville to install the new motor in the big No. 2 truck. The present motor was damaged some years ago in an accident, and since that time the department has been somewhat handicapped. The new motor will be of the six cylinder model, having 110 horsepower. A week will be required for the installation. The work is being done at the West Side station.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr.
Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.
These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the stomach like strong liquids or calomel.
They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums.
So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards'
Olive Tablets take its place.
Most headaches, "dullness" and that fuzzy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "fuzzy" and

Let Resinol Make Your Sick Skin Well

That itching, burning skin can almost certainly be healed! The first use of Resinol ointment seldom fails to give instant relief. With the help of Resinol
ointment, this soothing,
healing ointment usually cures away all traces of eczema, ringworm, rash or similar tormenting, sleep-preventing skin-diseases quickly and at little cost. Physicians have prescribed Resinol ointment regularly for over twenty years, so you need not hesitate to use it freely. Sold by all druggists.

Is Your Toilet Soap Injuring Your Skin?

Many toilet soaps contain harsh, irritating alkali. Resinol soap contains absolutely no free alkali, and to it is added the Resinol medication. This gives it soothing, healing properties which clear the complexion, comfort tender skins and keep the hair healthy.

the same satisfactory way that the Janesville Center has done for the women.

For some time people in this city have realized that though the women were well provided for in the rest room, there was no place except the men from the country could spend a little spare time while in the city.
With this realization and in the belief that modern business and modern conditions require a spirit of co-operation between the business man of the city and the producer of the country, the officers of the feed company have equipped a suite of rooms in the building in which they now operate their store.

In these rooms, as in the women's rest room, there have been placed a number of comfortable chairs; decorations have been put up, adequate heat provided, desks and tables are there for the exclusive use of the farmers, and the feed company has placed a few letters. A large number of magazines, particularly a good assortment of recognized farm journals, are placed in the rooms for the benefit of the patrons.

Another feature of this accommodation is the tabulation of prevailing prices, which the Green firm has arranged to keep accurate and up-to-date. Three large wall charts are used for this purpose. On one is listed the prices on the Chicago market, the second by wire dated from another city, and the local prices, both the retail prices of all grains and feeds found locally, and the prices which are paid producers. On a third chart, the blank where farmers having small quantities of feed or grains for sale may list these facts free of charge so that other farmers in the locality may take advantage of the sales which the feed company which has furnished these quarters are most sincere in their invitation to all men to use the rooms; there is nothing merely in the establishment of "Farmers' or residents of the city," said Mr.
Green, "are under no obligation whatsoever if they use these rooms. We do not expect to see all these people and it was not our intention in equipping them to get customers there. They are merely for the accommodation of farmers who need some place where they can take business and go as they will; we will not know most of the time who is there, and so want everyone, who is there, to feel at home, or not, to make use of these rooms."

The "farmers' exchange," as the new quarters have been called, is also offered to any business man who wishes to use the quarters as a meeting place. The rooms can be had free of charge and will be open at any time if the F. H. Green company is notified before a firm's plant.

In order to handle the increased business and to take care of all possible trade that is likely to be received, the company has recently purchased the elevator, formerly known as the Milwaukee elevator, which stands at the corner of Fourth and North Main street. The elevator has been leased by the company for the past few years, but this winter it was purchased outright.

Another increase in the leasing of the large warehouse on North Main street, known as the Jones warehouse, 220 North Main street. This building, which views an addition of two thousand feet of space on its two floors and large concrete basement. Excellent track facilities make the loading and unloading of bagged material easy and quick. It is expected that the firm will handle their bulk grain and feed at the elevator and the package stuff at this warehouse. Access to this wagon to the loading platform on this warehouse is easy and over good streets.

These enlargements in the storage space of this merchant and the increase in the relations between the business man and city merchant and the farmer that cannot but bring more money to Janesville according to predictions of one member of the city club, after being told of the new plans. "Greater co-operation between the city merchant and the farmer is our aim," he continued.
"We have had that doctrine preached to us by the community workers that have visited here. Such a business that brings the rural parts of the community closer to the city and much more intimate relations between these sections. The new men's rest room or farmers' exchange is a great idea, and will unoubtedly meet with much success."

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

So much is said and written relative to the earnings of the railroads during the past two years the following editorial from the Railway Age Gazette on the question of their earnings should prove interesting and also settle the question of the thought of the railroads were making millions at the expense of the public. The editorial says:

"The fact that both the gross and net earnings of the railways of the United States in 1916 have been greater than for any other year in their history is being given wide publicity, and some railway officers who have been working hard and poor earnings for a long time are now concerned for fear that their present big earnings will be taken by the public as an indication of a permanent condition and that it may lead to new attacks on them in the way of demands for reductions in rates or requirements that will cause permanent increases in their expenses. Some anti-railroad agitators are already seizing the opportunity thus presented, but they would be less liable to succeed if everybody who reads the figures could be made to understand their true significance and the fact that they represent abnormal conditions. When stated in terms of the percentage earned on the investment in property devoted to the public service the earnings of the railways seem moderate indeed when compared with the huge profits being garnered by some industries as a result of the conditions created by the war. While the earnings have been growing, the amount of capital necessarily invested in the business has been growing also."

The issue of September 20 we published an estimate that the earnings for the fiscal year ending on June 30 represented a return of 5.9 per cent on the investment and later available figures confirm the result. For the calendar year an estimate compiled by the Bureau of Railway Economics from the official returns to the Interstate Commerce Commission as they are available, together with what is known as to the trend for December and a part of November, shows a net return of 5.9 per cent.

"Such figures necessarily require some estimating because the official property investment reported for 1916 has not yet been figured. For 1915 it was $72,689,700, and an estimate of $73,000,000 is very conservative. The operating income of roads earning over $1,000,000, as officially reported for the fiscal year, was $1,020,241,000. Adding to this an estimate for Class II and Class III roads and deducting for the items of taxes of lesser companies, hire of equipment, joint facilities and miscellaneous rents, gives $1,004,000,000, or $3.09 per mile for net operating income. This was 5.5 per cent on the investment of $73,000,000. For the twelve months comprising the calendar year the net operating income, estimated on the same basis and allowing for the more rapid increase in operating expenses during the winter months, was approximately $1,071,000,000, or $3.26 per mile for the fiscal year, or 4.5 per cent. If the investment per mile be increased to $73,400 to allow for the additional investment during the past six months the rate of return for the year was 5.9 per cent."

"As long as the earnings of the road do not exceed six per cent they can hardly be charged with making unimpossible profits, especially when it is known that the operating expenses necessary to handle the abnormal volume of traffic are already beginning to increase faster than the gross earnings."

"The Interstate Commerce Commission in its annual report to congress published a table giving the percentage of net return from 1901 to 1915, and an estimate for 1916 (for Class I roads only) of 6.35 per cent on $72,000,000. These figures would be somewhat reduced by including the figures for the roads earning less than $1,000,000 a year, and the commission also made no allowance for hire of equipment, joint facilities or miscellaneous rents which are an actual operating expense. This accounts for the difference between its estimate and that of the bureau. It is significant, however, that the commission's tables for twenty-five years state the average rate of return on investment as 4.54 per cent for the entire period. For the five-year period ending with 1915 the rate was 4.55, as compared with 5.41 for the five years ending with 1910."

WISE ACTION.

The county board is to be commended upon their decision to make the changes needed at the county court house confined to the limits of the purse of the county treasury rather than rush ahead with expensive and costly changes and running the county into debt. By following out the plan of taking one or two floors at a time the work can be completed within a very short period of years and the actual cost will not be felt so materially. The board is not being hasty into passage of any measure that will entail an indebtedness upon the county that can not be wiped out with ease and they have taken the wise course.

THE MESSAGE.

Governor Philipp has delivered his annual message to the members of the Wisconsin legislature. While it covers many topics, it is fairly long, and is interesting from the opening sentence until the last word. It is the plain, straightforward suggestion of the chief executive of the state for a business administration of state affairs without all the furs and furbelows of experimental legislation.

The governor would extend the term of office of the governor from two to four years. A wise suggestion. He even goes further by recommending that the offices of attorney general, state treasurer and secretary of state be made appointive by the governor, to form a cabinet, as it were, similar to that of the national government. It is an advance in ideas, but still, when considered, it is a wise provision. The primary law, the governor holds, was adopted by the people, and they should be given the opportunity of deciding whether they wished it to remain on the statutes or not. He, however, urged the party convention as essential to the best interests of the residents of the state in making their selection of candidates.

His suggestions as to radical changes in the income law, the assessment of real estate, and the reform of the courts, are sound and deserve careful consideration. In fact, throughout the whole message Governor Philipp has followed out the line of thought that has made him a constructive executive and not an experimental or destructive one. He pays his compliments to the lobbyists and warns the members against combinations that detract from the best interests of the state.

The Milwaukee Sentinel sums up its opinion of the message by saying: "On the whole, a strong, readable, pithy message that invites controversy at some points and conveys the impression that the governor in a general way not only knows what he wants this time, but that he also knows how to get it by the short cuts and that he means to have it. The campaign charges by the very men who thwarted his wishes last time that he failed to do what he set out to do, have had their effect."

Tom Lawson acts as though he had a plan of action when he looks at the "Financial Finance" when he gets through with Washington.

Allies do not appear to be in as peaceful a frame of mind as the Kaiser would have them, if the note to Wilson is any indication.

Mexico needs a better advertisement of its climate and wonderful resources than Villa or even Carranza. If Turkey is to remain in Europe it will have to learn German as the court language.

Buy because you hope for that?
Shall I buy this awful lid
Just because it's certain that
It is stylish and the deuce
And the latest mode and use,
It be fair to me,
What care I how fair it be?

If it make me look an ass
When I gaze into the glass,
Must I buy to tickle you,
Even though you wear one, too?
Be it quite the latest trick
And most very, very slick,
If it seem not slick to me,
What care I how slick it be?

When I know it looks a fright
Must I buy to be polite?
Just because it's certain that
You would like to sell a hat?
Be it made of llama's hair
And the only thing they'll wear,
If it is a fright on me,
What care I how slick it be?

There was a young man who said,
"Why must I always look out through my eyes?"
If I gaze through my nose
I would sneeze, I suppose.
Someday, just for once, I will try."

A dip in a crowd had a fight.
He fled and was soon out of sight.
And he mused on the way,
"I have had a good day,
But if they should catch me—Good-night!"

"And so would I and you would you."
Thegnu replied, "Those tears,
though hot,
The proper sort of tears are not.
For though he weeps for years and years
Just loads and loads of tears and tears,
Yet never will the world allow
That they are real—Observe him now.
He stops to think of that—and then
He bursts into tears again!"

in maintaining the county and state aid highways, and for the purchase of four horse-graders and two dump wagons to be added to the county's road building equipment. The resolution calling for this appropriation was introduced by Supervisor Voltz. An appropriation of $700 was also passed for the purpose of providing an oil storage tank of 10,000 gallons, which will save the county a considerable sum in demurrage charges during the year.

Supervisor Overton presented the report of committee No. 12 on bridges showing an expenditure of $20,220.10 on county aid bridges, the county's share in the expense being $3,038. Supervisor Overton also presented the report of committee No. 10, on claims. Both were adopted.

Supervisor Hull introduced the report of committee No. 8 on licenses. The latter showed a total of ninety-nine licensed saloons in the county, as follows: Janesville, 44 saloons and 3 breweries; Beloit, 36 saloons; Edgerton, 10; village of Clinton, 1 town of Janesville, 1; and town of Rock, 4. The total amount accruing to the county from these licenses is $4,960, or $50 for each saloon.

The question of an increased salary for the superintendent of the county asylum and poor farm was brought before the board in a resolution by Supervisor O'Neal, fixing the yearly salary at $1,500 instead of $1,200. He read a recommendation from the trustees of the asylum in which it was announced that C. S. Whipple had been reappointed to the position for the year 1917. The question of the board's power to raise the superintendent's salary was raised by Supervisor Hull, and his point of order was sustained by Chairman Smith, who held that the salary was determined by the act of the trustees. Supervisor Woodruff of the special committee in charge of the investigation into the tuberculosis sanitarium, asked the board's permission for further time, which was granted.

The chair appointed the auxiliary committee to the building committee to assist in the matter of the court house.

An appropriation of $1,000 was passed for the use of the training school until the state money shall be available.

SAFE FARMING

MAKE MORE FROM YOUR FARM POULTRY.

By PROF. P. G. HOLDEN.

Practically all farmers raise poultry. No other class of live stock is so widely distributed. We "take care of" our horses, our cows, and our pigs, but we "keep" chickens.

It isn't must trouble to keep chickens. They can roost most any place—on the fence, in the barn or pig pen, or even in the trees. They can live on most anything—bugs, worms, waste grain, litter, or table scraps—and if they chance to wander into the garden where the eating is good, they are "shooed" or stoned out. They can drink water or eat snow.

The average farmer considers poultry raising a "side issue"—a job for women and children—a sort of necessary nuisance in order to provide fresh eggs and a toothsome roast or fry.

Yet this "necessary nuisance," this "side-issue" branch of farming, nets an annual return in the United States of more than half a billion dollars—enough to build two Panama canals every year.

Farm Hens Big Producers.

Only a very small portion of this vast sum is produced by the commercial poultrymen of the country. Ninety per cent of it is earned by the little, often neglected, flocks ranging at liberty on the farms of the country. Farm poultry is profitable because the investment is small, the cost of labor low, feed is cheap, the chickens utilize the waste products of the farm, and they destroy weeds and insects.

Increase your profit by producing more eggs. The average farm hen produces sixty eggs; she should produce one hundred and twenty. Profit depends on surplus production.

Good housing and proper feeding will increase your profit. A hen will not lay eggs unless she is comfortable and has a variety of food with plenty of water, grit and oyster shell.

Handle and market your eggs better. Market the kind of eggs you would want to buy if you were a consumer. Produce infertile eggs, keep the nests clean, gather the eggs daily, keep them in a cool, dry place, and market them twice a week.

Improve your flock. Cull out the poor stuff; begin now to build a better flock, and ultimately keep one breed only.

A henhouse is not always a hen home. The former may be cold, dark, and damp; the latter is always light, clean, cheery, and comfortable.

Make Hens Comfortable.

The poultry house should be convenient. It should be close to the other buildings, and easy to clean. A low house is hard to work in; a high house is hard to keep warm. Have plenty of light in the house—sunlight is a good germ destroyer. Leave all or a part of the south side open to keep the house dry and well ventilated. Allow no drafts. Keep the house clean and free from vermin.

A good house does not necessarily need to be an expensive house. A cheap house, built along the right lines and kept clean, will serve just as well as an expensive house.

If you want winter eggs, duplicate spring conditions. Variety is important in the winter ration. Eggs cannot be produced unless the feed contains the material from which eggs are made. An egg is about ten per cent fat, fifteen per cent protein, seventy-four per cent water, and one per cent ash, chiefly lime.

Grain, especially corn, furnishes the carbon and starch—the heat and fat making foods; mill feeds, with milk or beet scrap, furnish the protein. Some green food is necessary in winter to furnish succulence and bulk.

Give the hens all the water they will drink; warm it, if possible. Furnish grit to grind the food, oyster shell for making the egg shell, and charcoal as an aid to digestion.

BED TIME TALES

By CLARA INGRAM JUDSON

Foxy Is A Friend In Need

WHEN FOXY STARTED OUT to get something for Topsy Cottontail to eat, he wasn't quite sure what that something was going to be. Because he wasn't quite sure what sort of thing Topsy would like. Of course, Topsy would rather take him nuts; nothing in the world seemed quite so tempting as a fat, juicy nut. But Foxy knew that Topsy didn't care a rap for nuts. Not because nuts were not good, but because Topsy's teeth and appetite were not used to nuts. He also knew that Topsy did like cabbage; he had heard Topsy talk more about cabbage than about anything else. And he knew where cabbage was to be found, Topsy had often told him.

But dearie me! Can a little squirrel cross a big cornfield, go into a strange garden and carry away a cabbage? I should say not! Foxy had sense enough to know that. And he was wise enough not to attempt the impossible.

All the same, he meant to take something to Topsy. He meant to keep his eyes open and find something.

So he started down his tree (keeping on the side away from the sound of the last gunshot, of course) and over toward the cornfield.

He hadn't gone half the distance before he spotted Tommy Jay and his help. Of course Tommy Jay is a farmer and an expert on all sorts of things, but he was a robber too; but even folks as bad as that have their good points, you know that yourself. And one of Tommy's good points was a willingness to help when he could and wanted to.

"Hello there, Foxy," called Tommy, for he spotted Foxy as soon as Foxy saw him; "where you been all day?"

"Hiding from the hunter," replied Foxy.

"You must have been away this morning or you would have heard him," Tommy was interested at once, for the hunter was every creature's enemy. "Where's Topsy?" he asked with real kindness; "is he safe?"

"I hope so," answered Foxy, "I'm going to see him now. And I want you to tell me something to eat; can you tell me what to carry? I can't get cabbage."

"I should say not," laughed Tommy Jay. "You take him some of the nice fresh twigs that you'll find right by the cornfield fence. Jack Frost hasn't got around there yet, and Topsy likes fresh, tender twigs."

So Foxy ran and got the twigs, took them to Topsy and gave him the good news that the hunter was gone for that day. Don't you think Topsy must have been glad to see him?

TRUNK LINE ROADS TO SOLVE HIGHWAY PROBLEM IN STATE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Madison, Wis., Jan. 12.—Good road advocates are enthusiastic over the recommendations made in Governor Philipp's message for the trunk line roads and the federal aid and contingent amounts added thereto for the development of a system of state trunk line highways. They regard it as a great step forward in remedying our present piecemeal highway system. It means that if the program of the administration is carried out, the present state aid highway law and the present piecemeal highway system will be replaced by a system of trunk line roads—town and county—while the federal aid will be made the basis of a fund to be set aside for a state trunk line highway system based on the state as a unit. In speaking of the matter, F. A. Cannon, executive secretary of the Good Roads association of Wisconsin, which has been carrying on a state-wide campaign for state trunk lines, said:

"If the recommendations made by Governor Philipp in his message to the legislature regarding state trunk lines, are carried out, it will mean the greatest step forward in highway legislation since the passage of the original state aid law. And the indications are that the recommendations will be carried out."

Governor Philipp stands squarely behind the program we have been agitating. He stands for the utilization of the federal aid and contingent amounts accruing therefrom, for the development of a state trunk line system of roads instead of adding this money to the piecemeal state aid fund and utilizing it in the same way as the present state aid money. Our state aid highway law is based on the town unit, largely with the exception of between twenty-five and thirty counties on the county unit. The roads thus far built have been built from the local town point of view which has resulted in 4,841 miles of road in 3,610 pieces—a piecemeal highway system.

"Under the plan recommended in the governor's message, a state-wide trunk line system will be planned and developed, taking a state-wide view of the problem. Instead of the local view. In the next four years, as the governor says, we will receive $1,925,415 from the federal government for highway building. This money will be used in making $2,778,235. We may safely add 5% to that, or to the state's share, as the state is required to match the federal money right-of-way, make preliminary surveys, etc. Federal aid trunk lines, which would make approximately $6,000,000 to be spent within five years in developing state trunk lines. This will make a splendid beginning in view of the fact that a considerable mileage has been constructed under the present state aid law which will necessarily be located on any state trunk line system laid out; and of the further fact that a number of counties have, or are about to issue bonds which will take care of further portions of the state trunk line."

"Under the governor's recommendations, the federal aid trunk line mileage will be distributed on the basis of the trunk line mileage in each county in proportion to the present taxation basis."

"Carrying out the recommendations made in the governor's message means that we shall continue to develop our town and county roads under the present state aid law, but that we are going to take a step forward and build state trunk lines based on the state as a unit, which before many years will place us in the same position as the eastern states which have developed systems of this character."

TO CARRY WISCONSIN'S VOTE TO WASHINGTON

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Madison, Wis., Jan. 12.—Frank Smith of Madison will leave for Washington on Tuesday to carry the thirteen electoral votes of Wisconsin to Washington for delivery to the chief clerk of the United States senate. Dr. Smith said today that he expected to be absent about ten days, and will go around by New York for a visit while on the trip. A certified copy has already been mailed to Washington and another copy deposited with Judge A. L. Sanborn of the federal supreme court here.

City Streets In Mexico.

There is an almost unbroken regularity in the laying out of the city streets in Mexico, but according to an old Spanish custom the name of the same street frequently changes from block to block.

Everyday Wisdom

By DON HEROLD

THE LANDLORD THREATENS TO THROW US OUT. WELL, THE EXPERIENCE WILL BE GOOD FOR A MONTH'S RENT AT THE NEXT PLACE.

A STIFF NECK

A writer can sell his aches and pains. (So he usually has his share. Ask any writer's wife.)

He gets a stiff neck, he can say "Ha, a new experience! This ought to be worth $20!" When other people get stiff necks, all they can do is nurse them. If a writer gets a stiff neck, he can sit down and immortalize it. If he mails the manuscript to a magazine and the manuscript is returned, the writer can sit down and dash off a few stanzas on "How It Feels to Get Manuscripts Back."

He has this opportunity often enough, too.

It is a sad day in a writer's life when he hasn't any calamities. If he falls off of street cars, and gets run over by trucks, wagons, hearses, automobiles, motorcycles, shelled ponies, elephants, fire engines, etc., and if somebody steals his umbrellas and his house burns down, and his children break out with measles, and the morning mail brings a lot of back bills—that is a rich day for him.

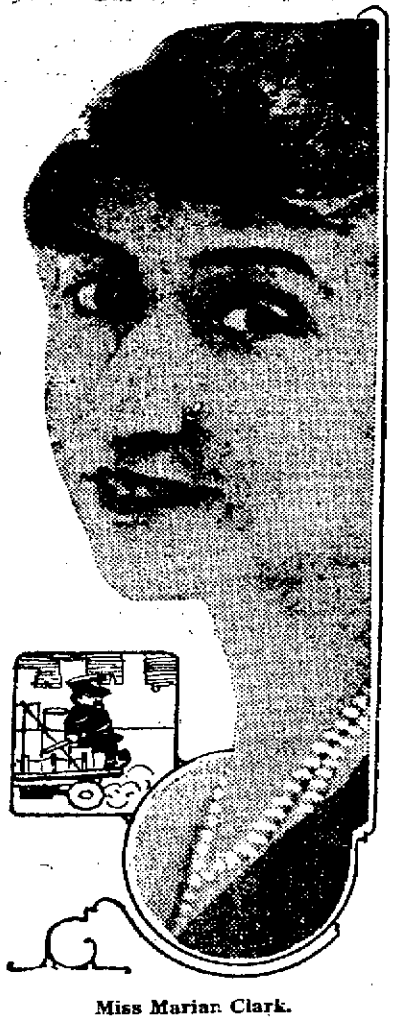

All that a writer has to do is to see the funny side of things!

A stiff neck is very uncomfortable, but very, very funny. All that a writer has to do is he wants to write something funny about his own stiff neck. It is like it is somebody else's. He simply has to get an impersonal point of view on it.

All he has to do is to strap a hot water bottle on the back of his neck and sit at his typewriter, and get good control of his psychological processes and think up funny things about stiff necks.

It is pie to be a writer.

The Gazette takes pleasure in announcing its new serial, the first installment of which appears in today's issue, "Nan of Music Mountain," by Frank H. Spearman, a tale of adventure graphically and realistically presented. With the scene laid in the wilds of the Rockies in the days of the frontier, the story is sufficiently unusual and thrilling to compel more than passing attention. The character drawing is as clever as the plot, and the style is vivid, yet simple and direct, which adds much to the popularity of the novel. Readers who recall "Whispering Smith," by the same author, will not hesitate in beginning "Nan of Music Mountain."

The Queen Bee as a Voyager. Queen bees are sometimes sent on journeys through the post, even being dispatched abroad. It is a long and hard trial to be packed in a crowded mail sack in the recesses of a steamer's hold. To overcome this disadvantage the Italian exporter provides a special car in which her majesty the queen may ride. She and her associates and the little bit of sugar that goes with them are very light yet the exporter makes a large, cumbersome cage in which she is to ride. The reasons for this are that the box must be strong and the sides must be extended so as to prevent the surrounding mail from becoming too closely packed against it.—London Spectator.

HIDDEN PUZZLE

REFUSES FOOD AND LODGING TO THOSE WHO WON'T FIGHT

Lewes, Eng., Jan. 12.—This town is trying today to get rid of a non-combatant battalion of conscientious objectors. Housewives have declared an outright strike, refusing to billet the men, and a number of tradesmen decline to sell them anything at any price.

Recognizing a man's right to obey his conscience, the military tribunals were puzzled to find some means of mobilizing conscientious objectors and putting them on work of national importance. At length the suggestion was adopted to uniform them like Tommies and mould them into laboring units. The distinguishing mark is the "N. C. C." on their caps, meaning "Non-Combatant Corps."

Lewes has sent a large number of her sons to the war. Many have been killed and the hospital list is long. Therefore, when the objectors were sent out to find billets with the townspeople they faced a long, tedious hunt from door to door.

The objectors' homes have been sent their sons to France flatly refused to accept them, despite the military regulations requiring civilians to billet soldiers.

As we have frequently remarked—read the want ads—today and every day.

WOULD FIGHT FOR WOMAN'S BUILDING

Urges Campaign to Raise Funds for This Much-needed Institution in Janesville.

(By Mrs. Abbie Helms.)

While our minds are filled with tender thoughts of the great hearted woman, Mrs. Day, whose memory we have just honored, can we not spare a moment to consider the plan, that was always first in her thoughts, outside of her family ties—that of a building devoted to the use of women and girls in our city.

This need was also realized to the full, by another great soul, who dwelt among us for only the short space of two years—Rev. Francis Brigham. He felt that Janesville and her management to and believe that the public of Janesville appreciate and will support a high class production. To test this belief they are returning for one night.

The City Federation of Women's Clubs are realizing the same very great need, and are trying as best they can to make a beginning for the work in their rest room which they have called Janesville Center.

Now here we have three sets of people who are all reaching for the same idea—the need of a woman's building. They are: the pupils and friends of Mrs. Day, who would like to do something to carry out her ideal; the members of the congregation of Francis Brigham, and those public-spirited men who were associated with him in his service in Janesville; and lastly, the club women of the city who are represented by the city federation of women's clubs.

The latter are fully organized, have a capable corps of officials to carry out the work and have a bond for $500 in the bank bearing interest, which might be used, as a nest egg for the enterprise.

Now would it not be possible at this time for the friends and admirers of the work of Francis Brigham to raise a like sum as a memorial to his memory?

And then under the lead of the Drama League it would be a small matter to raise $500 among the pupils of Mrs. Day to make a start in that direction. Mrs. Day was planning to put on a play next month with the help of the drama league for the benefit of the rest room. Would it be expecting too much of them to ask them to carry out this plan for the benefit of the memorial?

If this could be done the public would rally to support it, and make it a testimonial of the esteem in which Mrs. Day was held by the community. The total of these funds invested in a lot now while property in Janesville is comparatively cheap, would make possible a campaign for a building far on.

These suggestions are made with a view of starting discussion on the subject and bringing out a possible plan of procedure. It is something that can be done now, without delay, which would make a beginning for that project, which was so dear to those who have just left us and which we would like to see consummated.

We have here in Janesville a woman's town, where some 1500 young women are employed at a daily wage. Until the rest room was started, there was no place in the city where they could go to sit down for a moment's leisure, except to the library building. There are about 500 girls employed within a block of the corner of Main and Court streets, a building somewhere in this neighborhood, having dormitories for transient use, and a cafeteria would undoubtedly prove a good business venture, as well as a great convenience to the young women of the city.

Gazette Want Ads surely bring results.

CHAPTER I.
Frontier Day.

Lefever sat sideways on the edge of the table. His subdued whistle, which seemed meditative, irritated De Spain more or less, despite his endeavor not to be irritated. It was like the low singing of a teakettle, which, however inaudible, indicates steam within. In fact, John Lefever, who was built not unlike a kettle, never whistled except when there was some pressure on his sensibilities.

The warm sun came streaming through the windows of the private office of the division superintendent at Sleepy Cat, a railroad town lying almost within gunshot of the great continental divide. De Spain, tilted back in the superintendent's chair, sat near Lefever—Jeffries had the mountain division then—his feet crossed on the walnut rim of the shabby, cloth-topped table. His chin lay on his soft, open collar and, his sunburnt lips were shut tight, and his nervous brows eyes were staring at the dull flash barrel of a new rifle, that lay across Lefever's lap. At intervals Lefever took the rifle up and, whistling softly, examined with care a fracture of the lever, the broken thumbpiece of which lay on the table between the two men.

From the main street side of the large room came the howling and clattering of a Frontier day celebration, and these noises seemed not to allay the discomfort apparent on the faces of the two men.

"Hing it, John," blurted out De Spain peevishly, "what possessed you to send for me to do the shooting, anyway?"

His companion answered gently—Lefever's patience was noted even among contained men—"Henry," he remonstrated, "I sent for you because I thought you could shoot."

De Spain's expression did not change under the reproach. His features were so regular as to contribute to this undisturbed expression, and his face would not ordinarily attract attention but for his extremely bright and alive eyes—the frequent mark of an out-of-door mountain life—and especially for a red birthmark, low on his left cheek, disappearing under the turn of the jaw. It was merely a strawberry, so called, and after knowing him, one forgot about the birthmark in the man that carried it. Lefever's reproach was naturally provocative. "I hope now," retorted De Spain, "but without any show of resentment, 'you understand I can't.'"

"No," persisted Lefever, good-naturedly, "I only realize, Henry, that this wasn't your day for the job."

The door of the outer office opened, and Jeffries, the superintendent, walked into the room; he had just come from Medicine Bend in his car. The two men rose to greet him. He asked about the noise in the street.

"That noise, William, comes from all Calabasas and all Morgan's gap," explained Lefever, still fondling the rifle. "The Morgans are celebrating our defeat. They put it all over us. We were challenged yesterday," he continued in response to the abrupt questions of Jeffries. "The Morgans offered to shoot us offhand, two hundred yards, bull's-eye count. I thought we could trim them by running in a foot gunman, so I wired to Medicine Bend for Henry. Henry comes up last night with a brand-new rifle. This is the gun. The lever," he added with a patient expletive, "broke. Henry got to shooting too fast."

"That wasn't what beat me," exclaimed De Spain curtly. And taking up the offending rifle, he walked out of the room.

"What do you think, William?" Lefever grumbled on. "The Morgans ran in a girl to shoot against us—Nana Morgan, old Duke Morgan's little niece. And I never before in my life saw Henry so fussed. The little Music Mountain skirt simply put it all over him. She had five bull's-eyes to Henry's three when the lever snapped. He forfeited."

"Some shooting," commented Jeffries, rapidly slating letters.

"We expected some when Henry unslung his gun," Lefever went on without respecting Jeffries' preoccupation. "As it is, those fellows have cleaned up every dollar loose in Sleepy Cat, and then some. Money? They could start a bank this minute."

Sounds of revelry continued to pour in through the street window. The Morgans were celebrating uncommonly. "Rubbing it in, eh, John?" suggested Jeffries.

"Think of it," gasped Lefever, "to be beaten by an eighteen-year-old girl."

"Now that," declared Jeffries, winking up as if for the first time interested, "is exactly where you made your mistake, John. A gunman shoots his best when there's somebody shooting at him. That's why you shoot worst because you're a gunman, and not a marksman."

"That boy can shoot all around me, Jeff."

"For instance," continued Jeffries, "if you had put Gale Morgan up against Henry, and told him to shoot at each other, instead of against each other, you'd have got bull's-eyes to turn from De Spain. And the Calabasas crowd wouldn't have your money. John, if you want to win money, you must study the psychology of it."

FATHER WAS RIGHT.

SON, IT IS PRETTY WET OUT— I THINK YOU'D BETTER WEAR YOUR RUBBERS TODAY.

I'M A YOUNG FELLER— RUBBERS ARE MADE FOR PEOPLE WHO ARE IN DANGER OF DYING OF OLD AGE.

A STYLISH PERSON CAN'T AFFORD TO TAKE A CHANCE OF LOSING THE LOOKS OF HIS FEET WITH RUBBERS.

I INTENDED TO TAKE A TAXI, BUT THE TAXIS ARE NOT RUNNING BECAUSE THEY ARE NOT EQUIPPED WITH CARS.

MOVE ALONG OR I'LL ARREST YOU FOR VAGRANCY.

FATHER WAS RIGHT!

There was abundance of railery in Lefever's retort: "That's why you are rich, Jeff?"

"No, I am poor because I failed to study it. That is why I am at Sleepy Cat holding down a division. But now that you've brought Henry up here, we'll keep him."

"What do you mean, keep him?" demanded Lefever, starting in protest.

"I mean I need him. I mean the time to shoot a bear is when you see him. John, what kind of a fellow is De Spain?" demanded the superintendent, as if he had never heard of him.

Lefever, regarding Jeffries keenly, exclaimed with emphasis: "Why, if you want him short and sharp, he's a man with a soft eye and a snap-turtle jaw, a man of close squeaks and short-arm shots, always getting into trouble, always getting out; a man that can wheedle more out of a horse than any once in the way he felt about it?"

Jeffries, with an effort, laughed. "That's all right, Henry! They won't get you." Again he extended his finger dogmatically: "If I thought they would, I wouldn't send you down there."

"Thank you."

"You are young, ambitious—four thousand a year isn't hanging from every telegraph pole; it is almost twice what they are paying me."

"You're not getting shot at."

"No man, Henry, knows the honor of his death. No man in the high country knows when he is to be made a target—that you well understand. Men are shot down in this country that have no more idea of getting killed than I have of you have."

"Don't include me. I have a pretty good idea of getting killed right away—the minute I take this job."

"We have temporized with this Calabasas outfit long enough," declared Jeffries, dropping his mask at last. "Deaf Sandusky, Logan and that squint-eyed thief, Dave Sassoon—all hot-up men, every one of them! Henry, I'm putting you in on that job because you've got nerve, because you can shoot, because I don't think they can get you—and paying you a whaling big salary to straighten things out along the Spanish Sinks. Do you know, Henry?"

Jeffries leaned forward and lowered his tone. Master of the art of persuading and convincing, of hammering and pounding, of swaying the doubting and deciding the undecided, the strong-eyed mountain man looked his best, as he held the younger man under his spell.

"Do you know," he repeated, "I suspect that Morgan's Gap bunch are really behind and beneath a lot of this devilry around Calabasas? You take Gale Morgan—why, he trains with Dave Sassoon; take his uncle, Duke—Sassoon never is in trouble but what Duke will help him out." Jeffries exploded with a slight but forcible expletive. "Was there ever a thief or a robber driven into Morgan's gap that didn't find sympathy and shelter with some of the Morgans? I believe they are in every game pulled on the Thief river stages."

"As bad as that?"

Jeffries turned to his desk. "Ask John Lefever."

De Spain had a long talk with John. But John was a poor adviser. He advised no one on any subject. He whistled, he hummed a tune. He extended his arm, at times, suddenly, as if on the brink of a positive assertion. He decided nothing, and asserted nothing. But concerning the Morgans and their friends, he did abandon his habitual reticence. "Rustlers, thieves, robbers, coiners, outlaws!" he exclaimed energetically.

"Is this because they got your money today, John?" asked De Spain.

"Never mind my money. I've got a new job with nothing to do, and plenty of cash."

De Spain asked what the job was.

"On the stages," announced Lefever. "I am now general superintendent of the Thief River line."

"What does that mean?"

"It means that I am to be your assistant."

"I'm not going to take that job, John."

Lefever took off his hat and twirled it skillfully on one hand, humming softly the while.

"I believe you'd better change your mind, Henry, and stay with us."

"No," returned De Spain meditatively. "I'm not going to stay. I've had glory enough out of this town for a while." He picked up his hat, poked the crown discontentedly, and, rising with a loss of amiability in his features and manner, walked out of the room.

The late sun was streaming down the full length of Main street. The street was still filled with loiterers who had spent the day at the fair, and lingered now in town in the vague hope of seeing a brawl or a fight before sundown—rolsters from the Spanish Sinks, and gunmen and gamblers from Calabasas and Morgan's gap. The Morgans themselves and their following were out to the last retainer.

Mother Praises Remedy That Relieved Her Baby

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Is a Dependable Family Laxative.

Nearly all the sickness incident to a baby's life is due to constipation, or inaction of the bowels. At the first indication of irregularity in this important function, relief should be afforded promptly. A mild laxative should be administered to gently carry off the congested waste and leave the stomach and bowels free to perform their allotted tasks.

Of the various remedies recommended to relieve constipation, the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, as prescribed by Dr. W. B. Caldwell and sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is the most effective. It contains no opiate or narcotic drug, is pleasant to the taste, mild and gentle in action, and quickly brings the desired relief in an easy, natural manner.

C. J. Douglas, Mason, Ill., writes that she cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin as a dependable family laxative. Little Mary Eva had been badly constipated until they tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which brought the first natural relief the child had in two weeks.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold in drug stores everywhere and costs only fifty cents a bottle. To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure to ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

DOES RHEUMATISM BOTHER YOU?

Many Doctors Use Musterole

So many sufferers have found relief in Musterole that you ought to buy a small jar and try it.

Just spread it on with the fingers. Rub it in. First you feel a gentle glow, then a delicious, cooling comfort. Musterole routs the twinges, loosens up stiffened joints and muscles.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It penetrates to the seat of pain and drives it away, but does not blister the tenderest skin.

It takes the place of the mussy, old fashioned mustard plaster.

Musterole is recommended for bronchitis, croup, asthma, pleurisy, lumbago, neuralgia, sprains, bruises, stiff neck, headache and colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

Men may be lookin' further ahead these days, but not as high. Who remembers when a feller used to whisper when he ordered a plate of beans?

What Is Auto-Intoxication?

(By V. M. Pierce, M. D.)

When poisons accumulate in the intestines, and are sent thru the channels of the blood because of the stagnation of this part of the body, it is what we call auto-intoxication. It usually precedes any sickness, and you will escape about nine-tenths of the ills of humanity if you keep the bowels open. Eat coarse foods: Use plenty of olive oil in potato or other salads—with onions. The reason the people of sunny Italy are healthy is because they use plenty of olive oil and garlic.

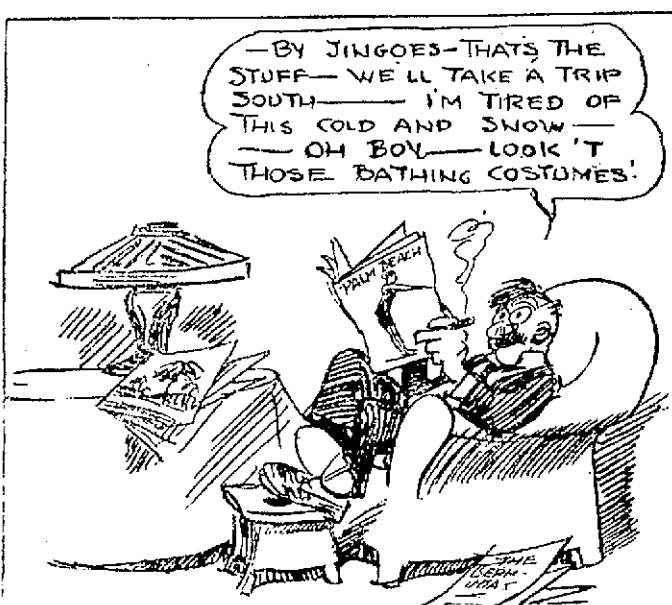

Castor oil is good for children or adults, and especially good for aged people. A pleasant form of a vegetable laxative that is to be had at any drug store, was invented by Dr. Pierce, who put together May apple (podophyllin), aloes, Jalap. Ask at almost any drug store for "Pleasant Pills" and they can be had for little money. They contain no calomel and are of vegetable constituents, therefore harmless.

There is no ailment causing more woe and misery than Stomach Trouble. Often Gall Stones, Cancer and Ulcers of the Stomach and Intestines, Constipation, Acute Indigestion, Auto-Intoxication, Yellow Jaundice, Appendicitis and other serious and fatal ailments result from it. Thousands of Stomach Sufferers owe their complete recovery to May's Wonderful Remedy. It is unlike any other remedy. It sweeps the poisonous bile and catarrhal accretions from the system. ### ALL-STAR TEAM TO MEET FOGARTY MEN TOMORROW EVENING

Dalton, Edler, Mitchell, Knapp and Atwood to go Against Rockford Stars Tomorrow.

With the announcement of the men who will defend the Cardinals' honor in their game with Fogarty's bunch of basket losers at the rink tomorrow evening, Janesville fans look for one of the best games of the season and despite the fact that the Rockford aggregation is one to be feared, Cardinal followers believe the stars assembled by Manager Caldwell are just about as invincible as any group ever gathered together on the Lakota's home floor.

For guards, Caldwell will present Dalton and Knapp, the former needs no introduction in this city, and his prowess is well recognized by one Fogarty or Rockford and his pugacious associates. Janesville fans know well Knapp's strength. At the pivot point, Eddie Atwood will return to the game, fresh from two weeks of good practice with his school team; in case anything happens to him, Manager Caldwell has secured the lanky Flooden of Rockford who filled that job so admirably in the recent game with Edler's huskies last week. Flooden is rangy, but powerful and fast, and won the regard of the Janesville fans by his clean, easy playing. To fill the forward position, Mitchell and Edler, two of the fastest men in the state, are promised by the manager. Mitchell is already well known here, not only for his playing with the Milwaukee Normal team, but because of the excellent game he played with Edler last Saturday.

With a team made up of the above men, there can be no doubt about the type of game which will be seen here tomorrow, and in the minds of many who have watched all of these men play there is little doubt as to the outcome. Those who remember last year, however, know that any game with the Rockford battlers under the able leadership of Fogarty is sure to be a good one. Fogarty himself and Murphy will hold down the forward position, their old places; this is a combination that is bound to give Dalton and "Monk" at least a steady job throughout the entire game. In the guard position, Carmichael, the only one whose reputation is already established in the minds of Janesville fans, Young and Garrity will try their hands at stopping the two boys from Milwaukee. Carmichael, the only one known quantity on the Rockford team, will play center.

Fogarty and his men come here with but one purpose, to wreak vengeance on the Cards for the two drubbings administered last season. The local boys know this and are prepared to send Fogarty back with a heavier heart than before. The Rockford captain has challenged Janesville to another series of three games; apparently last year's results do not serve as an object lesson to the ambitious leader of the Illinois squad, so it behooves the Lakotas to again demonstrate the fact that this is a poor team to engage in a series, if vengeance is the desired end of the battles.

EXPECT TO DEFEAT WAUKESHA TONIGHT

High School Basketball Team Will Show Real Class in Contest on Local Floor.

The high school basketball team will meet the Waukesha five this evening on the local gymnasium floor. Coach Keck has been running the boys through some grilling practice this week, and is giving special attention to the scoring end, which proved to be the weak spot in the last games. The Waukesha team will prove to be a strong opponent as they have been showing up well this season, and have four men with them who played on last year's team. But Coach Keck feels much more confident in this game than he has any of the past games. Although he realizes the strength of Waukesha's team he believes that the local boys, with their rough edges trimmed up, can win out readily.

A large attendance of students is expected to give the team the support it should receive. The line-up which will start the game, is as follows:

Keating, center; Davy and Morse, guards; Cushing and Kober, forwards; Hager, Finley, Sprackling, Nuzum and Crowley, subs.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The athletic board met yesterday afternoon, and accepted the resignations of Assistant Managers Sprackling and Nuzum. On account of being members of the basketball team these young men found themselves unable to attend to both duties. Ranous Schaller and Kirk Fuchs were the newly elected assistants. The board will resume the duties of Sprackling and Nuzum. The matter of reducing the rates on season tickets was also brought before the meeting, and it was decided that no change be made in the price until after the third home game had been played.

The third of the series of main room talks was given by Theodore Cullen yesterday morning, his subject being "Floods and Their Destruction."

MORRIS MILLER

A reason is given for the failure of Chief Bender to land the job as manager of the Toronto team. It is that the Philadelphia Nationals wrote to Toronto to turn over Pitcher Outfielder Thompson in exchange for a claim on Bender. This the Toronto club would not do. Thompson looked like one of the best bats in the International league last season and naturally would not be exchanged for a chance like Bender.

No proprietor of a Broadway cabaret ever could be considered an amateur athlete. He makes his living out of sports.

Donovan says that when he was pitching the man who gave him the most trouble was Heinie Wagner. "He never was a great hitter," said Bill, "but he always managed to hit me harder than men who were far above him in the batting averages."

Percy Haughton declares that the game of baseball is unbalanced. He probably got that idea from watching George Stallings and Johnny Evers just after some player had pulled a bone.

Bill Morrisette, the new pitcher acquired by the Giants recently from the Baltimore club of the International league, is the owner of a sweet tenor voice. Morrisette can also play the piano.

The youngster had a tryout with Connie Mack's Athletics last year, but his wildness soon sent him back to the minors. Morrisette is a spitballer, and this explains the reason for his inability to locate the plate.

Reports from Chicago have it that Fred Mitchell is ready to chop off the heads of ten members of the Cubs. It is said that all of the old Federal league players, with the exception of one or two, will be turned adrift or traded to some other club.

Gene Packard, the left hander, is one player who will not be traded in Mitchell's housecleaning. Packard pitched good ball last season and should be even better this year.

A dispatch from Los Angeles declares that Tilly Shafer is through with baseball for good, and that there is no chance of him changing his mind. Therefore, McGraw will have along next season without the services of the temperamental infielder.

Hughie Jennings is figuring on Howard Ehmke to help him considerably in his fight for the American league pennant next season. Ehmke joined the Tigers late last season and pitched several good games.

Did Tony Mullane have more speed than Amos ule and Walter Johnson? Was the Apollo of the Cincinnati club the fastest pitcher of all times? So thinks a good old fan, one who watched the Reds of 1889, and watched them come and go ever since. Says the fan: "I've looked at them all, and I shall always think that Tony Mullane had more speed than Rusie ever showed."

Unquestionably, Mullane had great speed in his earlier years, and ranked well up with the fastest men of Hurling Hill. It will be hard, however, to convince most fans of Rusie's day that Tony, or any other pitcher, had the cannonball force that Rusie used to wield. Name ten "fastest pitchers," and Mullane would be among the ten; name the two fastest, and Rusie and Johnson would get the call; name one alone, and the debate as to the relative supremacy of Rusie and Johnson would begin all over.

The American league is letting out very few of its men and is keeping its high-priced stars. That means that any retirement in Ban Johnson's league will have to be by direct salary-cutting, and so far, the club owners haven't shown any signs of swinging the ax. How different affairs look in the two big leagues now from their aspect a dozen years ago! Then, the struggling American league, bent on fighting its way to the top was saving in every way, even on baseballs, masks and chest protectors—now, the struggling American league clubs carry twenty-five men to the National's twenty-two, and spend their money with a profusion which makes the National owners gasp with agony.

New York American league players can't see how any other team in the National league is going to keep the Giants from winning the pennant. The Yankees played the Giants an exhibition game for charity last summer while the National leaguers were in the midst of a great winning streak, and Donovan's players frankly admit they never faced a classier looking ball club.

Fighting Johnny Evers says that he is agitating on doing the retirement trick at the close of the coming season. "Jawn" figures that he has had almost his share of baseball, and although he says he will report to the Braves in the spring, 1917 is to be his last year as a player. Evers has been resting up since the baseball season closed and he is looking as hard as horseshoe nails. By the time spring arrives he will be ready for a hard campaign, he says.

A. R. Tarnsey, president of the Three-I league, who acted as spokesman for the minor leaguers at the meeting of the national commission in Cincinnati, professes to be confident that the reform he advocated will be brought about. He is quoted as saying he was delighted with the reception of his plans by the commission and sanguine that the supreme court of baseball will force prompt and radical changes.

Kid McCoy believes that if Georges Carpentier ever meets Jess Willard the world's champion will get a drubbing. McCoy, perhaps the foxiest boxer that ever walked to the center, is a great admirer of the dashing Frenchman. McCoy sat with the Rickard crowd in a corner of the Waldorf and told the tall Texan that the championship of the world might change hands if Willard and the idol of Paris meet.

Of course, I'll tell you why I think Carpentier will whip Willard," said McCoy. "Georges is the speediest big man in the world, and speed is the thing that will beat the fellow with bulk and weight. Moran didn't have it and Carpentier has. I watched Carpentier from the beginning, and I'll tell you right now that he is the most reasonable fighter that I ever knew or boxed with. He is amazingly fast, a perfect marvel of action, and he has two wonderful hands."

"I saw him fatten Joe Jeanette twice in their fight in Paris with short right-handed punches. Joe was floored as cleanly as any man ever was. Little inside punches that I had shown him. If you get him to come here I am going with him, and if you don't see big Willard kicking the floor then shoot me for a wild sweet potato, that's all. I know what the boy is capable of."

That Connie Mack will have a far different team in the field when the 1917 race begins from what he has a year ago is shown in his discussion of his club's chances in the coming campaign. Last spring Mack frankly stated his team would cut no figure in the race, and he predicted that the seven other clubs would be later happenings. Now the leader of the Mackmen declares that his new team will cause quite a little trouble, but he does not class his club as a pennant possibility. He has decided upon several important changes in the team. Wally Schang will give up outfielding and resume his place behind the bat, with Meyer and Picinich as assistants. His first string pitchers will be Bush, Meyers, Nabors and Johnson, all of whom flashed fine performances in 1916. McInnis is the only veteran on the infield and Strunk the only outfielder.

strongly in the closing games of the 1916 race, will start the season at second base. Witt will remain at short and Bates is to supplant Pick at third base. Strunk will play center field. Ping Bodie is slated for the right field berth and Thrasher, a slugger from the Southern association, is to play left field. The team will carry plenty of speed and batting strength and a young but experienced pitching staff. It is a much better club than the one which started the championship campaign last April.

PLAN AUTO HIGHWAY FOR BIG INDIAN RESERVATION

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 13.—A highway across the Bad River reservation farm land is being boosted by good roads enthusiasts here. That the construction of such a highway is possible has been assured by Congressman I. L. Malbon. He recently informed Indian Agent P. S. Everest that part of the two-thirds of a million dollars for development of the Bad River reservation farm lands might be used to build the road.

EXPECT 1917 OUTPUT OF ORE WILL BE LARGEST YET

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 12.—The greatest output of forest products in years is predicted by railroad officials here. Although the movement of ore from the Gogebic range, the Ashland docks, and the Chicago & Northwestern railway in 1916 was the heaviest in the history of the Ashland division, the 1917 shipments promise to set a new high record.

FARMERS' ATTENTION.

In order to handle our business to better advantage and make a smaller outlay we have made a few changes that will be to our mutual advantage.

We have purchased the property of the Milwaukee Elevator Co. at the corner of Fourth Ave. and N. Main Sts., which we have occupied for the last several years. This consists of 10,000 bushels bin room for bulk grain, and feed room that will hold 300,000 lb. of feed. Electric power is used entirely. We have dump wagon scales, inside hopper scales, grain cleaners, corn sheller and feed mill. We will install in a short time a larger modern feed mill of will do custom grinding. We can unload your bulk grain very quickly, and can load three cars a day. Also, we have leased the building at 220 N. Main St., formerly known as the Jones Tobacco Warehouse. Have free switching on both railroads and have tracks at front and rear for unloading our bulk grain. There is a driveway at front and both sides for loading and unloading farmers in the least possible time. This building carries a very low rate of insurance and gives us about 12,000 sq. ft. of floor space. We will use it for mill feed, salt, shavings, fertilizer, oyster shell, and seeds that we will buy in car lots.

We have furnished and opened to farmers and others, several rooms above our store for their accommodation. They are welcome to come and change ideas, and get better acquainted. A farmers' exchange board is one of the fixtures, where anyone having stock, seed, etc., can list it free of charge. Chicago markets will be reported on blackboards for grain, hogs, cattle and potatoes after 2:30 o'clock each day. Local markets will also be kept on blackboards and give the grain, hog and selling prices of hay, grain, etc. Farm papers, bulletins and current magazines will be abundant. One small room contains desk for farmers' use, where they can transact business, etc.

These rooms may also be used for meetings of farm associations or clubs in the daytime or evening, the clubs open these rooms Monday, the 15th and want you to use them any time.

We will have special prices on one article each day next week. Acquainted with our neighbors and us.

Forty Years Ago
The Janesville Daily Gazette, Jan. 12, 1877. We regret to state that Mr. Ellison is lying in a very critical condition.

Mrs. H. A. Smith has been engaged as the soprano in the choir of the Congregational church for the coming year. This is fortunate for the choir, and a great advantage to the church.

The band boys were somewhat surprised about 10:30 last night when they discovered a huge fire raging within two blocks of them and rushed about to give the alarm, to find that the fire had been in successful operation an hour and a half.

Two of the promising boys of Janesville have been fortunate in securing good positions in the legislature. Master Glen Richardson, son of Rev. H. Stone Richardson, is messenger to Lieutenant Governor. Parker in the senate, and Paul R. Colvin is messenger to Speaker Cassaday. These are worthy appointments and the boys will honor their positions.

In our notice of the postoffice yesterday we omitted to mention that the paint, oil and shellac work was donated by Mr. E. Kent, of this city.

SENDS HIS REGRETS TO OWN EXECUTION

London, Jan. 12.—Professor T. G. Masaryk will have to send his regrets to Vienna when the time comes for his execution. Masaryk is scheduled to be executed at the gallows but doesn't believe he will be able to attend.

The Austrian government conducted a public trial of Masaryk on charges of high treason. He was sentenced to death following a verdict of guilty. The defendant was in London when he learned of the verdict. He was then in London, a lecturer at the University of London.

Masaryk is one of the most interesting figures in the Slav political and scientific world. As a leader of the progressive movement in the Balkans, he was formerly demanding liberation of the Czech nation from Austrian domination.

The outbreak of the war made this very uncomfortable for the professor in Austria, so he left. He had organized and led the opposition to Austria's annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina. Masaryk, although theoretically an enemy alien, has found London a friendly haven compared to his homeland.

SALVAGE DERELICT NOW ON U. S. COAST

Guatemala City, Guatemala, Jan. 12.—The steamer Sesostris of the Kosmos Steamship company of Hamburg, which sank off this coast seven years ago, has been raised by the Skinner Sinking and Salvaging company of Seattle, Wash., and after the vessel has been repaired in the drydock at Panama the derelict will be registered as an American vessel in the coastwise trade. She will be renamed Estrada Cabrera in honor of the President of Guatemala. The Sesostris was owned by the Philadelphia Breakwater company made attempts to raise the vessel many years ago, but the work was abandoned as hopeless and the vessel was sold to the British Columbia Wrecking company for the purpose of engaging the vessel for the purpose of raising the vessel. It is estimated that after repairs had been made the vessel would be worth nearly a million dollars.

PREDICT BIG FIGHT OVER LIQUOR ISSUE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 12.—Never before in the history of Wisconsin has the subject of control or abolition of traffic in liquor received the serious attention that it is receiving at this session of the legislature. In the very first session of the assembly the probable fate of the referendum prohibition bill had an important bearing on the future of business in the state before that body—the election of speaker. Assemblyman W. T. Evjue, a progressive republican, who has been consistently and persistently opposed to the entire program of Governor Philipp, voted for the governor's candidate for speaker, Lawrence C. Whitteit, offering as a sufficient explanation the announced intention of Whitteit to support the referendum bill. In another legislative session of recent years such a statement as that made by Assemblyman Evjue would have been the signal for derisive laughter. But at this time it was received not only seriously but sympathetically.

Evidence of the importance attached to the approaching contest between the wets and dries is found in the statement published by the staff correspondent of the Milwaukee Daily News.

"Wisconsin is to have a real fight on the wet and dry question," said the News correspondent. "No one who has been in close touch with the legislative situation the last twenty-four hours can doubt that."

What the News correspondent, J. Winter, said, has to say regarding the attitude of Governor Philipp while not official, is interesting, for Mr. Everett is personally a great admirer of the governor and has been considered to have a direct approach to the executive office. Mr. Everett says:

"Although the governor is not giving out any statements, the declaration is being freely made in legislative circles that if the referendum bill passes both houses it will receive the gubernatorial signature. Speaker Whitteit's statement that he will support a referendum bill is causing much bitterness in circles not favorable to the bill. After the Whitteit interview was made public Tuesday, an effort was made to bring out opposition candidate for the speaker."

COMMENT IN BRITAIN ON GERARD'S SPEECH

London, Jan. 12.—Referring to Ambassador Gerard's recent speech in Berlin on German American relations, the Manchester Guardian says that the speech has been missed in some quarters in England but not in Germany.

The newspaper adds:

"At the same time the relations between Germany and the United States would continue to be good as long as the chancellor and the present chiefs of the German government are in power. This is due to the fact of the German people, who pinned their hope to expansion in the west and the use of all methods however ruthless as a means of victory. Mr. Gerard knows President Wilson fears the future of its peace move may be followed by a submarine campaign as desperate as Germany can make it and his speech really was a blunt hint of the trouble that such a development would cause with the United States."

The Guardian justifies the unusual procedure of the ambassador in intervening against one of the most important political parties surmising that "he can only have done so in the belief that the position was such as to need a pointed statement—one that would make the situation clear to all in Germany."

FARMERS AT SCHOOL AT WAUWATOSA FARM COLLEGE

Wauwatosa, Wis., Jan. 12.—Wisconsin farmers went to school here today to learn how to run their farms. The occasion was the annual convention of the Milwaukee County Order of the Wisconsin Experimental Association. In connection with the convention competitive farm crops and poultry exhibits were held.

Many of the farmers brought their wives with them, and these were taken over by a committee who had prepared a special program in which the methods of housekeeping were shown.

Prof. W. J. Galt of Madison addressed the farmers on "The Value of the Milwaukee County Soil Survey." Miss Elizabeth Kelley of Madison spoke on "The Health of the Community."

SHIPBUILDER STARTS A HOTEL ON OLD VESSEL

Manitowoc, Wis., Jan. 12.—Secretary of housing and boarding houses in Manitowoc is not bothering employees of a local shipbuilding concern. They hit upon the solution of the problem by getting officials of the company by which they were employed to purchase the old side-wheel passenger steamer "Chicago" from the Goodrich Transit company and convert it into a floating hotel. The "Chicago" will have one large dining room on the main deck for serving the noon-day meal, and another large dining and smoking room on the same deck where employees who carry their meals can go and get a shower bath. Several hundred persons can be accommodated.

GINGLES' JINGLES

THE OLD HOME.
Do we remember? Yes, we do, the place where we were born, where we hitched oxen on the plow some early in the morn, and trilled the blonmin' thing 'till night, and put in our best ticks; yes, we was happy, I don't think, we loved the country—nix. Those cold November mornings chilled the marrow in a geek, the frost was on the pumpkin—it was also on our beak. Oh, yes, this rural life was great, the scenery was immense, but that is not the reason why we packed and beat it hence, but roaming in the gloaming with a milk pail as a chum, was not the kind of game we liked, nor did we like the hum of dad's old horsepower thresher, where the barley beards, a shower, came down upon our helpless form, and stabbed us by the hour. We may have gotten used to it, and side stopped any harm, had we stayed by the oxen and the plow down on the farm, but did not care to chance it, 'cause we could not see the joke, of the frost upon the pumpkin, and the oxen in the yoke.

CLOTHES MUST HAVE MUCH STITCHING TO BE IN STYLE TODAY

(By Margaret Mason.)

Grandma said she dropped a stitch; I didn't see it fall—I've hunted for it everywhere And can't find it at all.

Grandma says she picked it up; I didn't see her do it. I guess old folks are pretty spry If only we just knew it.

New York, Jan. 12.—For goodness sake, if you drop a stitch be sure to pick it up again, for you will need them all. The newest and smartest suits, frocks and wraps are a most stitching up one side and down the other.

Don't for a minute think you can escape having a stitch in the side, if you are very chic you will have them in both sides and in front and back as well. The old adage, a stitch in time saves nine, must go in the discard, for who wants to save nine now when fashion decrees that to be really smart you must be simply prodigal with stitches.

"The stitch, stitch" began "The Song of the Shirt," but now it is the beginning and the end of every swag article of wearing apparel. Of course it is the French who have stitched us up in this mad fashion and they have decreed that the stitching must be done either in bright and varicolored contrasting hues or in a tone darker than the material on which the stitches are taken.

Wide bands of stitching run around the bottoms of skirts, checker board designs of stitching run crisp around a blouse, stitching running around the sleeves and up and down the arm and stitching running up and down a skirt in stripes or running around it in the thing. No matter which way you run you run into stitching.

Strangely to say, however, every stitch is not a running stitch by no means. Indeed, for there is the back stitch which comes very much to the front. Feather stitching is being let down easy but or light and fluffy effects is sometimes used, and as for stitching you will find it very nice on Fussy-willow taffetas.

Brier stitching always is up to the scratch and in spite of its name you'll never look seedy in a suit where there isn't a shadow of doubt but that the shadow stitch is not to be put in the shade by any other stitch and the chain stitch is sure to link you closely to the mode.

The French knot stitch is knotty but nice, and the darning stitch is always well worn. The loop stitch is used in the best circles, and there is a stitch on the cobweb which comes across the cross stitch and a lot of blouses, and the cable stitch is naturally the very last word in stitches.

The outline stitch is right in line with all the best stitches, and lots of the girls have fastened their fancy on the buttonhole stitch. Nor does any ton lay down the law when it comes to the couching stitch so you see the long and short stitch of it that any stitch at all is good.

Plain stitching of course is really the most swag of the tailored suits and wraps and straight bands, cross bars and zigzags of the stitching and sweeping curves are the favored designs. The stitching is used with the stitching save a few buttons and a touch of fur. Since it would seem stress is to be laid on the stitching as a trimming for the rest of the garment, the seamstress is a very busy person indeed these days. Both she and the surgeon are adept at taking stitches and they both stitch you and trim you at the very same time.

DISCUSS PROBLEMS OF FRUIT GROWING AT LOCAL MEETING

Leaders in Wisconsin Horticulture Conduct Institute at Library Hall.

Very interesting programs with practical demonstrations, helpful talks by state experts on the subjects presented and informal discussion of questions brought out are some of the features presented at the meeting held at the Library building yesterday and today. These meetings have been arranged by a local committee consisting of U. S. Kellogg, Prof. A. B. West and W. G. Wilcox who have been working in co-operation with the State Horticultural society. N. A. Rasmussen of Oshkosh, president of the state society and D. E. Brigham of Sturgeon Bay who is the vice president, have been at the meetings and have presented the live topics of the up to date farmer and fruit raiser in a most practical and comprehensive way. Many photographs of actual fields in bearing, of fruit being harvested and the fertility of back yard gardens when properly managed were shown.

Thursday morning the program opened by a practical demonstration of the pruning of fruit trees by Mr. Brigham and a talk on the growing of tomatoes by Mr. Rasmussen.

In the afternoon after another demonstration of pruning by Mr. Brigham an address was given by Mr. Rasmussen on the growing of strawberries. He recommended the Dunlap for general use, with the Burbank for large fancy show berries. He gave some illustrations of how to improve the strain and gave his own experience during six or seven years in his endeavor to keep the type pure. He said that here in Wisconsin there was getting to be more and more strawberry growers, so that there was more profit in the growing of small fruits for the market. There was an interesting discussion on the everbearing berries, which some claimed to be the coming strawberry, and also arguments for and against the use for general purposes.

Mr. Rasmussen gave a talk especially for a group of students from the high school who were taking the course in Agriculture under Prof. West.

This was in the line of advice on how to grow perfect specimens of vegetables for exhibition at fairs. The culture of carrots, parsnips and mangels was described and also a very interesting experience of his own boys in raising barley for exhibition purposes was narrated.

A comprehensive talk on apple culture especially in the state was given by Mr. Brigham who is a practical fruit grower. He recommended a list of apples, including McIntosh, Wolf River, Wealthy, Snow, Wagner and Fallmain. Apples as suited for this climate and gave directions for their culture and care, so as to secure strong, healthy trees. The question of cherries was also taken up and Early Richmond and Montmorency recommended for use. A lesson in grafting was also given with practical illustration of grafted joints.

The question of diseases of fruit trees was also taken up and the effects of fire blight discussed, with means suggested to get rid of it. In the evening at 7:30 another program was given with lantern slides illustrating different phases of the work. The opening talk of the evening was especially planned for the boy students and was along the line of garden work. Afterward the diseases of fruit trees were shown illustrating the process of spraying for insect pests and diseases. Also slides showing the destruction of home grounds were exhibited.

She Was Too.
The book canvasser advanced toward the door. Mrs. Flinn stood in the doorway with a huge stick in her hand and an ugly frown on her face.

"Good morning," said the stranger politely. "I'm looking for Mr. Flinn."

"So'm I!" announced Mrs. Flinn, getting a grip on her weapon.—London Answers.

THE DAILY NOVELETTE

THE FALLER.

—The high liver wines and dines, but the despicc dines and whines.
—Prof. Simp.

"My goodness!" thought Gustavus Todd. "Can I be falling?"

In truth, it seemed so. A moment before, he had been on the roof of the Siltzer building, observing Scootleigh's comet, and now line after line of windows was flashing past him, he could feel the wind created by his descent, and, just as in stories he had read, the events of his past life passed in review before his mind's eye like a picture in a movie.

"Heavens! I'm falling, all right!" he mused in alarm. He thought of the time when he was eight months old, that he broke his bottle over his nurse's head and refused to apologize. He thought of the time when, at the age of a year and a half, he swallowed a ten dollar bill and then for an hour pretended to help hunt for it.

"But why don't I hit something, if I'm falling?" he wondered. He thought of the time when, aged nine, he dropped an egg in the electric fan because he thought the parlor needed repapering.

"And I haven't made my will," he reflected. "And I forgot to put the stopper in the bay rum bottle. I—" At that moment he landed on the little of his back on the floor and woke up.
